

ATTACHMENT E

TO THE AFFIDAVIT OF FRANKIE ANDREU

Subj: RE: legs getting better

Date: 4/19/01 4:27:14 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: [REDACTED] (Lance Armstrong)

To: [REDACTED]

Yeah Frank,

I hear ya. Let's discuss anyhow. I can see it in your eyes...In my mind you always have a place here.

Be well.

LA

-----Original Message-----

From: [REDACTED]

Sent: Wednesday, April 18, 2001 6:28 AM

To: lance [REDACTED]

Subject: legs getting better

How are the legs, getting better? I heard Circuit de la Sarth was a bitch, I'm sure it wasn't fun after just flying over. You know, it's a little to late to talk about racing again. It's just the way things worked out. It seems like the team is doing better than ever this spring and I'm sure it will continue to the Tour. Besides Eki is a super elder statesman..I loved seeing the guys at Roubaix, it was nice to sit and talk with all of them. It was great seeing you in Austin and I'll see you at the Tour, I'm coming over at the start to Nice with the family and then coming watch the second half.

I

expect to see yellow lions all over the front of the bus!!! ciao...frankie

Subj: RE: question

Date: 4/14/01 4:58:48 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: [REDACTED] (Lance Armstrong)

To: [REDACTED]

I just get the feeling that you would rather be racing. I also agree you stopped too early even though you're an old fart...jk.

I can't really expand but i think we miss some elder-statesman-ism on the team.

Of course being over here hhas a lot of implications for families and such so it's pretty complicated but it was just a feel that I got, like I said.

Let's discuss.

LA

-----Original Message-----

From: [REDACTED]

Sent: Tuesday, April 10, 2001 2:51 PM

To: lance [REDACTED]

Subject: Re: question

In a message dated 4/10/2001 4:21:20 PM Eastern Daylight Time,

lance7 [REDACTED]

<< this is dead serious.

do you want to race next year?

LA

>>

Wow, you caught me by surprise!!! What in the world are you talking about? I love directing but I definitely feel like I stopped racing early. It depends on the circumstances. Care to expand your thoughts?? ..frankie